ABSTRACT

Re-useable build tasks are analyzed and tasks with identical attribute values are grouped together into batches, and the task is executed once for each batch, eliminating the need for consideration of looping constructs in the build process.